About the course:

“Ethical Leadership”

About the instructor:

Law enforcement officials are involved in numerous ethical dilemmas. . .

Across the United States, law enforcement agencies and officers have been involved in numerous ethical dilemmas that has created a lack of trust on the part of the public, news media and other members of the criminal justice system. From the Rodney King incident to law enforcement officers convicted of criminal offenses, the law enforcement community has suffered from a lack of ethical core values and leadership initiatives. . This seminar is designed to provide an ethical framework by which law enforcement officers and criminal justice agencies can evaluate their decision making and choices in potential ethical dilemmas. It is also designed to discuss the various leadership principals that are applicable within the law enforcement community. Ethical and integrity considerations and concerns within the personal and organizational setting will be emphasized. Practical exercises will be conducted dealing with ethical considerations and choices and leadership issues during the seminar.

William D. Healy

Mr. Healy was a career law enforcement officer who was a member of the law enforcement community for over 29 years. For over 25 years, Mr. Healy had been a member of the Ohio State Highway Patrol and served as a Staff Lieutenant in command of the Highway Patrol's highly successful Traffic and Drug Interdiction Teams (TDIT) and as a Lieutenant at the Ohio State Highway Patrol Training Academy. Mr. Healy has lectured widely across the United States on ethics and leadership issues. He has served as an instructor for the Southern Police Institute, Northwestern University Traffic Institute, International Association of Chiefs of Police, Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and for the Drug Interdiction Assistance Program (DIAP). He is a lifetime certified instructor with the OPOTC. He has a Bachelor's degree from Ohio University and a Master of Science degree in Administration from Central Michigan University. Mr. Healy is currently serving as the Director of the North Coast Polytechnic Institute, a criminal justice training business located in North Ridgeville, Ohio.
